Dedication

Mr. Fred Fontaine

The Class of 1999 would like to dedicate our yearbook to Mr. Fred Fontaine. Mr. Fontaine filled in for Mrs. Mannion who was out on leave for the year, we understand that this was a difficult position to be in and appreciate how well Mr. Fontaine handled the situation. Fred moved into the TV Production classes without hesitation and worked hard all year to make sure classes went smoothly. We thank him for all his help and hard work this year and enjoyed having him as our teacher. Thank you again Mr. Fontaine.

June, 1999

Dear Graduates of the Class of 1999,

After having spent thirteen years in the Millis Public Schools, as most of you have done, you are now leaving a safe, supportive environment where each of you was a member of the Millis extended family. You are facing many new challenges and opportunities.

Many of you are pursuing further education. Some of you will be leaving home for the first time. Others of you are joining the work force. I am confident that the knowledge and skills that you acquired here will put you in an excellent position to succeed in each new endeavor. Be confident! Be self-assured! You have the abilities to succeed!

In facing the challenges ahead, reach for the "brass ring". Set goals. Do not be afraid to fail. You can be anything that you want to be. Most individuals entering the work force in this era will change careers several times over their work careers. Follow your interests and passions. You will succeed.

Best wishes to each and every graduate. Know that we in the Millis Public Schools are very proud of you.

Sincerely yours,

Caroline M.C. White, Ph. D.

Dear Members of the Class of 1999,

Congratulations to all of you for your successful completion of this phase of your education. We hope that your four years here at Millis High School have helped provide the foundation you will need to have continued academic success. Your combined intellectual and interscholastic achievements in the classroom and on the athletic fields have made a positive contribution to this school.

I am sure each of you will continue to gain knowledge and skills throughout your entire life. Take pride in your accomplishments and apply your gifts and talents to achieve your high expectations.

I wish each and every one of you health, happiness and success. A new journey is about to unfold. It is filled with excitement, challenges and risks. Put forth your best effort and make significant and positive changes in your community and the world. On behalf of the faculty and staff, I wish you all the best in your future endeavors!

A black and white photograph of a group of seven people, likely a family, posing together indoors. In the back row, a man with glasses and a mustache stands on the left, a woman with long dark hair stands in the center, another woman stands to her right, and a young child is visible on the far right. In the front row, a woman is seated on the left, a woman stands in the center, and a man is seated on the right. They are all looking towards the camera. The background is slightly out of focus, showing some indoor furniture.

A black and white photograph of a large group of young women, likely a cheerleading squad, posing in three rows. They are wearing a variety of outfits, including sweaters, blouses, and skirts. The photo is grainy and has a vintage feel.

This year the team carried on the long standing tournament tradition, despite an obvious lack of height. We made it all the way to the Division Two Sectional Final where we lost to Medfield. Even though state tourney hopes were dashed again, over all, it was still a good season. There were three First Team All-Stars: Lauren Trish and Becky and two Second Team All-Stars: Lisa and Katie. This year Trish was awarded MVP, Becky Unsung Hero, and Lauren — Outstanding Defensive Player. The senior captains would like to thank Mr. Egy and Peter for another great season, and wish the rest of the team Good Luck in upcoming years.

Girls Soccer

This year Millis Girls Varsity Soccer season was 6-12. We, for the first time ever, beat Dover-Sherborn twice! Cara and Caitlin broke the school record for goals scored in a single season. On a team with 16 players, five were Tri-Valley League All-Stars. We all will be returning next year and have high expectations for a winning season.

Boys Soccer

The Boys Soccer team did very well this year. For only the second time in school history they made the state tournament. They finished the season with an 8-5-3 record. In the first round, they played Norfolk Aggie and won 8-0. Tri-Valley League All-Stars were Dave, Todd, Bobby, and Brad. Tom played very well in goal this year and made some very big saves. They played some key defense to help out the offense and John cleared a lot of balls out of the zone. Scott A. scored a key goal against Westwood. Scott P. was sorely missed after going undefeated while playing Jannet. It was a huge season and will undoubtedly be the biggest lost for Mill. They had two spectacular come from behind games against D'S and A. They beat Medway for the first time in school history to get to the tournament. They had a great season!!

Football

This year's team was captained by Chris, Bryon and Douie. We went off to an impressive start, winning our first six games and allowing only 13 points in the process. The season ended with a respectable 8-2 record and five shutout victories. We all feel honored to have participated in what many say was the greatest high school football game ever played losing a heartbreaker to Bellingham 27-26 in overtime. Brian, Nick and I were three of this years TVI All Stars and were voted as next year's captains. Erik, Sean, Doug and Chris were TVI All Stars as well. We received an honorable mention. Team awards went to Sean — Unsung Hero, Chris — Offensive MVP, Doug — Defensive MVP and Team MVP and Erik — Outstanding Lineman. Doug was voted as Defensive Player of the Year in the league and Erik was a vote away from Lineman of the Year in the Tri-Valley. Next year's team should still have the talent to pull off a success. The future is bright.

Cheering

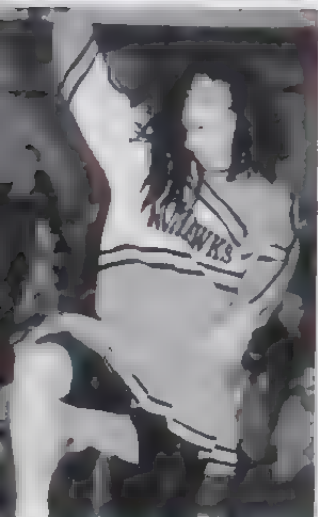

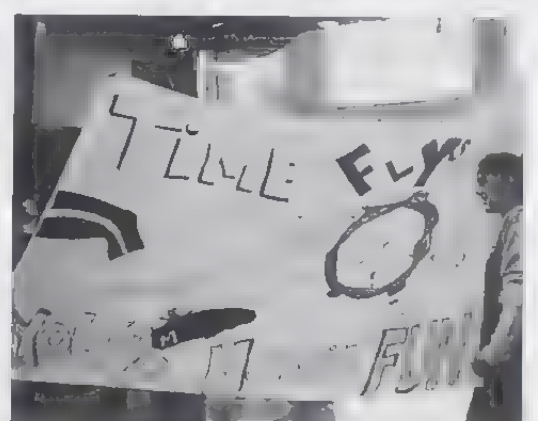

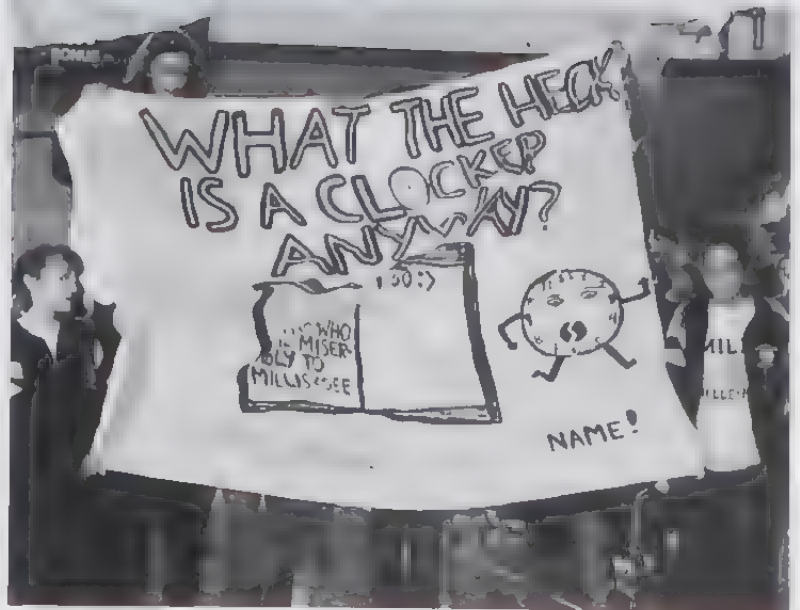

This year the Millis cheerleaders had a really good year. Cheering at the Bellingham football game was an excitement all its own. Aside from cheering at games, we entered into the Medway Competition and came in first, making us eligible for Regionals. We also has a higher score than Medway which was unbelievable. Our captains Kim, Amy, Ellen departed from the squad after an amazing year. The seniors left new captains, Sara and Katie, seven spaces to fill, and hopes that Millis Cheerleaders' success continues to grow.

The game highlights this year were the Ashland win in overtime and the win over Holliston. Katie Lynn received the Sportsmanship Award, Alyssa Gagne the Coaches Award and Melissa Corbett the MVP Award. Melissa was a TVL All Star, Middlesex News First Team All Star and Milford Daily News All Star. Melissa also became the first girl in Milford history to score 1000 points and will go on to play Division 1 basketball at Binghamton University.

The Basketball team was led by the only two seniors on the team: Bryon Tingley and Bobbie Braun. The boys played hard this season, highlighted by the first win over Medfield in about 10 years! The hard work showed as the team just missed going into tournament play by a tough loss to Hull. Bryon was named Team MVP and was voted into the TVL All-Stars. Bobbie was awarded the Sportsmanship Award and the Coaches Award. The rest of the team wish Bryon and Bobbie good luck and will return to play hard again next year.

Seventy students and several faculty members competed this year. The twelve teams played 22 games as they tried to make it to the final eight. Making the playoffs were Senior Spunk, Stonewash Jean, Flying V's, Heavy D and the Boys, Appetite for Destruction, Midget Wrestling League, Coleman's Wild Cows, and MAASK D.J.'s. As the tournament progressed, the two teams making it to the final were Senior Spunk and Stonewash Jeans. Senior Spunk only lost one game in regulation play and were determined to walk off with the victory. Stonewash Jeans only lost two games and they were to Spunk, so a real battle was anticipated. Keeping their record intact, Senior Spunk defeated Stonewash Jeans to capture the crown. Stonewash Jean team members were: Brian Egs, Tom Connolly, and Nick Cabral.

Mens Volleyball

The Mens Volleyball team had another growing season, working hard on improving on their skills from last year. Led by captains Tom Connolly, Dave Campbell and Justin Kleya the team won 5 games this past season and enjoyed the second season of Mens Volleyball in Millis. Tom helped the team out with great sets and serves while Owen perfected his spikes. The team will continue to grow and improve and will look for Matt and Alex to return next year

Track

The Millis/ Medway track team had quite the year, especially the Millis part of the duo. Led by their upperclassmen, the season turned out to be quite a success and a good time. Sarah Lynch had another excellent year with her field event while Caitlin Dolan, Cara Magnarelli and Courtney McDonough ran real fast for the girls team. The boys witnessed Brian Egy fly 22.5 ft in the long jump, the longest jump in the history of Millis High School, as well as dominate in the 110 high hurdles. David Brodeur did outstanding in the triple jump, high jump and 4x100. Scott Apone and Doug Horton gave it all every time they ran the 4x400 and it paid off with second place finishes in almost every race. It turned out to be a great memory for everyone.

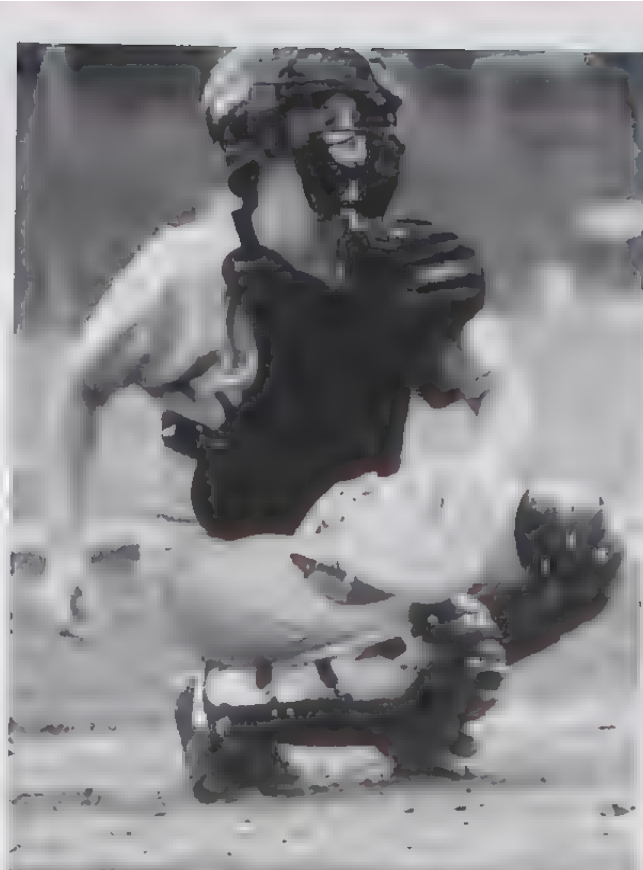

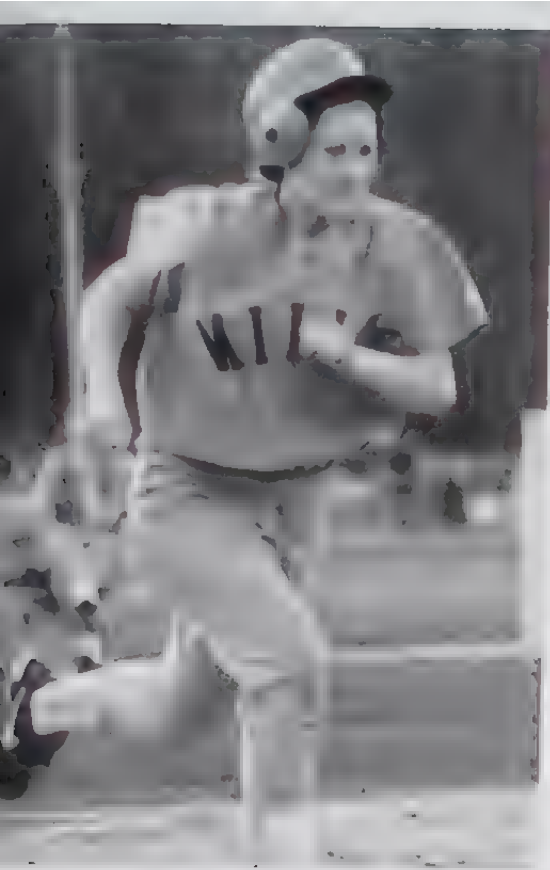

Softball

This year we had a young team composed of only two seniors, and even one seventh grader, but overall, we had a pretty good season. We came out of our season with three all stars, Trish, Sara, and Sam. At the banquet, awards were given to Trish - Best Defensive Player and Sara - Best Offensive Player. We would like to thank Mrs. Harney, a coach that was new to us. Due to her time, patience, energy, and endless sense of humor, she really took us to another level.

Baseball

The Baseball team enjoyed their most successful season in the last three years and contended for a playoff spot until the last game of the season. Solid pitching and hitting for the most part tribute, but the team fell just short on numerous occasions.

Highlights: Pete Nahass pitching solid out of the bullpen; Scott Powers getting his first victory; Erik Carlson and Scott Phanow tying for 2nd in the TVL in hitting, hitting numerous home runs each, and named MetroWest All-Stars, Sean Joyce calling solid games behind the plate and providing power; Roy Davis stepping in, and pitching three solid games.

Kyle MacQuarrie
Valedictorian

Good evening, fellow graduates, Principal Kelly, Superintendent White, School Committee, faculty, family and friends:

I thought for a long time on what I wanted to say today in my speech. I had a number of people ask what I was going to say to my fellow graduates, and I must confess, for quite a while I didn't have the faintest idea. But, as I gave more thought to this speech, I realized that my fellow students weren't the audience I wanted to address. I've spoken with most of them for 180 days out of the year for the past twelve years. This is a small school and everyone up on this stage knows each other fairly well. I had no important message that I could give them today, because all the important things that we say to each other, we say in private, informally. So I'm standing up here today, speaking not to my classmates, but to all of you sitting in front of me.

There's a great deal of variety out in the audience today, among all of you, in age, as well as other things. You range in age from elementary school to a lucky few not far shy from the century mark. But you all have at least one thing in common today, besides being bored right now while listening to me, and that's the fact that you've turned out to see my class graduate. And while I'm pleased that all of you have come here, honestly, I have to wonder how well some of you understand us. I know that, as a group, teen-agers tend to perplex pretty much everyone else on the planet. So I thought it might be nice if I try to explain to all of you something about what it is that moves myself, and other teenagers, in this day and age. Naturally, there's variety, but it might grant you a starting place from which you can understand individuals.

First, let's start off with just how much we know. I feel no hesitation in saying that, as a group, we're really bright. And I'm not just talking about the fact that we know what a Maclaurin series is, or can discuss the inertia of objects in space. Give us thirty years, ask us about normal forces on an object, and you're probably going to get a lot of blank stares. No, I'm talking about the fact that we're a cannier bunch than most that have come before. We're a discriminating lot for being all of eighteen years old, and not much slips past us. Make no mistake, we make our own judgments, even though the media and authority figures may claim otherwise.

Undoubtedly, some of you think this is preposterous. I'm sure that some of you think that, as a group, we teen-agers are self-absorbed, flighty, irresponsible, and clueless about life's true lessons and difficulties. Well, you might as well get rid of that idea right now, because it's very outdated. For better or worse, the world has changed from the way it was even a generation ago. Yes, teen-agers may be flighty, and vain, but we don't have a monopoly on that market. I could name, without pause, a dozen people over thirty with those flaws.

Growing up today, we bear the weight of responsibilities that no other generation has ever really had to face. On a daily basis, we face the awareness of a growing class stratification in our world. Every day, we must face the fact that our world is slowly dying in our feet. Every week, it seems, we hear of another peer who chose to end his life or her own life, or worse, the lives of others, with the use of a gun. Every day, we struggle for that extra edge that holds the possibility of getting us into that competitive college. And in a few years, many of us will be facing $60,000 dollars plus in college tuition that will come due.

Understand, I do not say this looking for sympathy. Everyone has his or her own load to carry through life. But, somewhere along the line, when no one was watching, the rules changed. How many of you out there in the audience ever worried about your credit line, or how much easier had to consider that the person you dance with at prom might be the person who will walk into school with a weapon the day after? For any age or any person, those are unpleasant realities that we have to deal with.

But I worry that I may have given you some unpleasant pictures that my friends and I agonize over whether to choose to use American Express, or cringe at the possibility of receiving a lower than a wonderful grade. Of course, that's absurd. Actually, I have to say, as a group, we have a lot going for us. We can carve out our own empires with nothing but a concept and a website, or maybe we can go around and consider one of the vast numbers of options open to us beyond high school. All in all, we're probably a little bit spoiled before any parents here use that admission against us as a means to make us do more work (and I'm looking at you, Mom), let me tell you that if the world is a more convenient place for us, your children, it is because you wanted it to be. You wanted to give us opportunities and open the realm of possibilities, and you succeeded in your goal. Young people today choose careers they never would have been able to, just a generation ago, and there is the very real possibility that someone up here will become a self-made millionaire some day. Of course, that's just a small sampling of ways life could treat us because of you. And while it pains me to no end to admit this, I have to concede that I owe you my thanks for that. It's because of your caring and concern for us that our lives are that much better.

Of course, there's a multitude of other topics that I could spend time to try to give you an idea of just who we, your children, grandchildren, cousins, siblings, friends, students, are, but there's only one other thing I think it's important to mention. That's the fact that we're all grateful to our parents. It seems that many of you battled over ideologies, fought over the clothes you wore, the music you listened to, and your plans for the future. And while teen-agers today certainly have their disagreements with their parents, I have to say that, in general, we get along pretty well with them. For whatever reason, you relate pretty well. Speaking from personal experience, I know that my parents and I are on the same wavelength to an astonishing degree, considering that I'm eighteen, and they're . . . um . . . let's say about thirty-five. And it terrifies me to think I'm turning into my parents, on behalf of my friends, as well as myself. I have to say thank you. You seem to understand us more often than not, and I can't begin to describe the comforting that is to us.

Now I have to wrap this speech up on a positive note or my father will shoot me, so let me just say that this class will go far. We're young, smart, good-looking, if I do say so myself, and adventurous. Look for our names in the news; you'll be seeing them. Now, here's one last thing that I'll say to the other graduates in this speech: Good luck. I'll see all of you later. Thank you and good night.

Scott Pijanowski
Valedictorian

Dr. White, Mrs. Kelly, Honorable Faculty Members,
s, Relatives, Construction Workers, and the Class of 1999:

When I first sat down to think of what to speak about tonight, the thing that came to mind was the fact that we've just completed difficult years of education, but I really didn't want to speak the past tonight. Then, I thought about what we have lying of us, whether it be college or a job or a family or a combination three. But I promised myself I wouldn't write a sappy speech the future, either. So, I was left with only one option, and that ponder the present, or in other words, to talk about 'now'.

This is the time where many of us will realize that we have our lives ahead of us, that these past thirteen years are gone, and we must now use the knowledge and experience we have acquired to better ourselves. With that knowledge and experience comes understanding that we have to start taking advantage of opportunities that come before us.

I'm going to ask everyone here to think for a second about a time in your life when you perhaps shied away from doing something fun, something exciting, or even something somewhat risky. Now, I'm asking everyone here to think of some time where this situation applied. If you can't, then just ask the person next to you to let you share their experience, and then you can pretend it happened to you.
Now, I want you to think about what caused you to back down from this opportunity. Ponder the question, "What would have happened if I actually went ahead and did it?" If you can come up with an answer, then you are a better person than I. How can you do with a result without the experience itself? There is no answer, that simply because it is impossible.

Let me take this situation for example. A few of my friends want to live as sort of a celebration for completing high school, as a test of manhood. Some people consider skydiving dangerous and too risky. However, it is utterly impossible to truly know what the experience is like, how dangerous it really is, and how exhilarating it may be unless you try. Many people think it is fair to judge based on nothing but opinion, but without the experience one is only being a hypocrite.

So while the person standing on the ground is shaking his head back and forth at the daredevil jumping out of the plane, it is then clear who the daredevil really is. The guy jumping out of the plane is thinking one of two things:

- 1) "This is the greatest experience of my life", or
- 2) "I can't believe I actually thought this was a good idea."

The person on the ground can only be thinking one thing, and that is "I wonder what it is like to be that guy up there right now." How daring is that person, standing there, motionless, wasting away, not even knowing what life is like? Even though the skydiver may not be having the time of his life as he pulls his ripcord, at least he knows now what the thrill of experience is. The good old man on the ground is still left wondering when he missed the boat. He may never know what it is like to try something bold and different, and that is the biggest risk anyone can make.

Now, once the skydiver has hit the ground in one piece, it is clear what the risk actually is. We now have two friends on the ground.
One has a memory of an unforgettable adrenaline rush; the other just sits and thinks about what could have been. Thoughts race around in his mind, trying to pinpoint the actual feeling. He may ask his courageous friend what it was like, and his courageous friend may explain it to him in full detail, but he will really never understand the experience unless he tries it himself. He'll be missing something that he won't be able to find.

In essence, what I'm trying to say here tonight is that it is important to be willing to take chances. If you are wearing a T-shirt that has an uncomfortable label, and the tag says "DO NOT REMOVE," don't be afraid to remove the label. There are no T-shirt police; you won't get in trouble. The same goes for pillows and mattresses; there aren't any linen police, either. At least you'll be in comfortable clothing, sleeping in a comfortable bed.

So while one guy walks down the street with a frown on his face and no shirt on, you are strolling down the street with a huge smile on your face, wearing your favorite shirt. Who's the one who lost out here?

Basically, what I'm trying to say is that experience is what really matters. Go skydiving, but make sure to bring a parachute. Cut that label off the back of your shirt, but if you happen to be left-handed, don't use a pair of righty scissors. And, for my sake, think about that you do before you do it. I just want people to feel like they live for a reason, and not just go through the motions.

Thank you.

Construction...

Will it ever end? That is the question most students and teacher wondered throughout the 1998-1999 school year. What would a 1999 yearbook be without some mention of the construction? We arrived at school in the middle of it and ended the school year with it, not many graduation speeches include construction workers among the welcoming of guests. We began with no lockers and had to go to many extremes to cart our books around, Doug Horton came prepared during the first few days. We endured glue smells, paint smells and smells of unknown origin. We moved along with our teachers at least once or twice, some even more! As the year progressed so did the renovations, we finally had locker rooms around January! And a new Media Center! As the Class of 1999 leaves the construction move on. Hopefully done by the fall but, who knows — we have become a little attached to some of the regular workers, they might just stick around...
